Positivity is the key to making this world a better place. The Positive Vibe Warriors, an organization founded by the Gudauskas brother's, have been working to pass the positivity to the entire world. Through their own initiatives and by partnering with other like-minded groups from around the globe, the boys have made the choice to share the stoke with the entire world and are providing support and relief to people in need through surfing, environmental preservation and ocean education.

Welcome to the new Vans Surf.

We're doing things a little differently around here.

This new website represents our dedication to cultural progression through radical experimentation.

A commitment to supporting creative individuals and celebrating the innovators that came before them.

Because we believe that surfing and skating are really just a way of seeing the world, of looking at things differently, and expressing yourself.

We hope you'll be inspired to get out from behind this screen and into the water.

A person is captured in a dynamic, mid-air pose, possibly a dance move or a gymnastic leap. They are surrounded by a large, billowing cloud of vibrant pink powder that fills the upper left portion of the frame. Other smaller clouds of blue and yellow powder are visible in the background and around the person's legs. The person's right hand is raised, with blue powder on their fingers. The ground is covered in a layer of white powder, with streaks of yellow, blue, and pink powder scattered across it. The overall scene is set against a dark background, creating a high-contrast, artistic effect.
